Welcome To 1967 Topps Baseball Cards

The perfect set for the most dedicated collector. This set is often named as one of the favorite Topps baseball sets of the 1960's among the collector's community. The simple design and high quality photography really stand out. By eliminating the usual bottom and top panels, the player's picture is allowed to fully take center stage on these cards. There were actual 2 distinct designs for this set. Series one cards had a black dot between the player name and their position which were both printed at the top of the card. Series 2-6 eliminated this dot. This reason for this mid-production change is not known. Also, one card in the set lacks the facsimile autograph stamp featured on every other card on the set. This is the # 254 Milt Pappas card. Again no reason is known for why this is and many collectors have never noticed either one of these differences.

The card backs are comparable to most other Topps sets from the 60's. The best part of the back design is that the solid green background makes any corner wear and tear very visible and therefore makes the cards easier to grade. There are also numerous different variations with this set. One of the biggest is the that some of the Bob Priddy and Mike McCormick cards contain a sentence explaining that the two players were traded for one another while other examples of these 2 card lack that sentence. Another variation is on the Mel Queen, Phillies Rookie, Ruben Gomez and Bo Belinsky cards. A few examples of these cards have backs on which the stats section has been erased. Those that have this line erased are very scarce and valuable. On some of the Mickey Mantle checklist cards there is a period missing after the D in D. McAuliffe's name. The examples with the missing period are quite rare.

There are some rather odd variations on the card fronts as well. Some of the #58 Paul Schaal cards show a lime green tint on the section of his bat in his picture that is above his name. On some examples of the Juan Marichal checklist card, the picture of the player has his ear cut off from view. On the Bobby Bolin #252 card, some examples have a white smear visible between his first and last name. The Roger Maris card contains a variation as well. Some instances of the card have a blank white back; others show him in Yankee's garb and correctly list him as a Cardinal.

The rookie cards in this set are one of the set's greatest assets. The #72 card weirdly shows a picture of James Brown Murray but labels him as George Kornice. This was an uncorrected error so it holds little value. Future legends Rod Carew and Tom Seaver make their first card appearances in this set though.

What are the toughest high grade cards to find from this set Cards for the World Series Tigers and Red Sox are high on the list. Several of the Red Sox player's cards are nearly impossible to find with accurate centering as are several cards of Tiger's players. Cards from Duke Sims, Johnny Romano, and the Pirates Team are also very tough to find in PSA 8 condition.
